Why you should invest in Egypt

Robust economy and enabling environment for investment

Since 2016, Egypt's government has implemented an ambitious program of economic reforms, including financial and monetary reforms, with the aim of achieving accelerated and sustainable growth rates and realizing the comprehensive development in Egypt. This program set effective solutions to the structural economic problems from which Egypt's economy suffered for a long time. The milestones of this program are implemented in the context of the vision "Egypt 2030", which reflects the long-term strategic plan of the country to achieve the principles and objectives of sustainable development in all fields and to localize the same within the different government authorities.

Egypt 2030 Vision

Egypt 2030 Vision intends to create competitive, balanced and diversified economy that is based on innovation, knowledge, social justice and economic development and environment.

Investment Climate in Egypt

The investment climate in Egypt witnessed several legislative and institutional reforms, particularly during the last few years, in order to facilitate and simplify the respective procedures for the investor. This contributed to achieving positive outcomes in the field of corporate establishment, in terms of the time, cost and the number of necessary procedures to start a business. As a result of these reforms, Egypt achieved a quantum leap on the index of corporate establishment in the report of Doing Business of 2020, ranking 90th instead of 109th in 2019 report.

The investment map in Egypt

The investment map provides investment opportunities in all economic filed across all governorates. Moreover, the Investment Law promotes these opportunities, through unprecedented incentives and guarantees.

For further details of the investment map:

The Investment Law

Egypt's investment Law provides companies established thereunder with a set of incentives, and it also prohibits nationalization, the confiscation and freezing of assets and the government's intervention in pricing the products of these companies.

The Law provides protection for the investors, and it sets a group of new incentives in addition to the existing ones. It provides also new methods for settling the investment disputes. The Law introduces procedural reforms that contribute to eliminating the bureaucracy and simplifying the procedures of doing business, in order to promote transparent and ensure equality of opportunities.

The most prominent achievements made under the new Investment Law in Egypt:

Getting finance: a robust foundation was laid for the supporting and developing the small and medium size enterprises, through promoting the financial inclusion.

Easiness of starting a business: several options are given to the investors to facilitate the procedures of registration and applying for licenses. The last administrative reform facilitates the investment procedures and reduces the time for applying for investment licenses, purchasing land and obtaining the utility services. Below are the options available for the investors to execute the investment procedures:

The one-stop shop system at the General Authority for Investment and Free Zones: the one-stop shop system is applied effectively under the new Law, through decentralization and the presence of a number of representatives of the concerned authorities at the Investor Service Center who are enabled to sign on the investor's documents.

Availability of Accreditation Offices across Egypt: for the first time, third parties from the private sector will assist the government, where they will examine the investors' applications and documents submitted for obtaining the licensing approvals, through these independent Accreditation Offices.

Protecting the investor: Mechanisms were set to ensure that the investor's property will not be nationalized. These mechanisms also ensure that no arbitrary decisions or the ones involving discrimination or abuse of power will be executed. The Law activates the guarantees for protecting the investors through a number of committees, such as: "the Ministerial Committee for Settlement of Investment Disputes" that convenes twice a month after it was convening once every two months when first formed in 2016. Moreover, this Law obligates the concerned bodies to implement the Committee's decisions within 15 days.

Creation of competitive arena: competitiveness was promoted, monopoly was eliminated and governance and transparency were encouraged. Most importantly, clear timetables for processes of getting approval were set. Therefore, Egypt's Investment Law is a revolutionary step towards getting rid of red tape and reducing bureaucracy.

Governance: the rules of good governance at the General Authority for Investment and Free Zones were demonstrated, and the roles and powers were set for the Supreme Council for Investment, which assumes setting the investment policies and strategies, according to the social and economic objectives in Egypt.

Equality of opportunities and creation of job opportunities: instead of directing the economic sectors via the public incentives, the new Law supports the social inclusion of the marginalized categories in the country, increases the job opportunities and reduces the monopoly of the huge businesses, through a set of economic incentives targeting in particular the areas most in need for development, namely: A- The geographic areas of low income, B- The labor-intensive industries and C- the small and medium size enterprises. This Law directs specified sectors that serve to form economic clusters in different areas of the country.

Sectors:

- ❖ Industries operated by the renewable energy.
- ❖ Mega- projects.
- ❖ Generation and distribution of electricity projects.
- ❖ Export-based businesses.
- ❖ Car manufacture.
- ❖ Agro-industry.

Field of Hospitals

(COVID-19) made the medical institutions in all countries of the world in a race against time to develop their infrastructure, as the successive medical developments made us say that we are about a new era in the health care through “smart hospitals” that provide integrated health services and digital diagnostics. In the era of the scientific and technological revolution, there is no doubt that this development has an impact on the way those institutions are managed and the mechanization of all their services.

And our experts in NZ, through many consultations provided over many years to our clients in the health sector, have acquired the distinctive experience that supports the financial sector within those institutions.

Field of Advertising Services

The experts believe that the advertising industry is one of the most important forms of investment that has good opportunities for growth, although these investments are still very few in the Arab region, given that the international companies operating in such field are still considering the region as a consumer market that benefits from it, and does not invest in it in the long term.

Hence our clients have a great opportunity to invest in such field, and we have helped many of our existing clients in avoiding the risks of such industry, and relieved them of the burden of incorporation, accounts and taxes.

Travel and Tourism Agency Field

Tourism industry is one of the most affected industries by the novel Corona Virus (COVID 19) crisis. The World Bank published alarming numbers, as the tourist destinations recorded a decline in the number of foreign tourists in 2020 by one billion tourists, compared to 2019.

This resulted in major problems in the revenues of those companies, and therefore our experts at NZ have innovative solutions to help our clients manage and mitigate the consequences of this crisis that face the tourism sector in Egypt and the Arab world.

Transport Field

Transport industry is the main pillar upon which the developmental programs of the state rely, due to the great role clear impact of this industry on the development of peoples in all economic, social and cultural fields, whether in the developed or developing countries.

NZ Experts Office has many experiences with our clients in this field, as we support them to face the problems of this industry, whether in terms of establishing those companies, or providing innovative solutions for all accounting, tax and financing problems.

Pharmaceutical Industry

Pharmaceutical industry is a strategic industry and one of the economic and social pillars. Pharmaceutical industry experts have emphasized on that the future of Arab medicine in light of the global trend of liberalizing the economy, and subjecting all countries to the globalization system is surrounded with risks, and having examined the map of the pharmaceutical industry in the Arab world, it becomes clear that the Arab still have a lot to do to establish an Arab pharmaceutical industry that can withstand and compete in light of the economic globalization.

Therefore, NZ Experts Office is in a race against time to help its clients take advantage of the promising investment opportunities in this field, through the advice provided to them in the field of establishment, management, financing, accounting, taxes, and economic feasibility studies.
